CSUEU Bargaining for Your Contract Begins

CSU Seeks Changes in Benefits and Layoffs

Full contract bargaining has kicked off with an exchange of outlines of the union's and CSU's respective bargaining proposals. This exchange of initial proposals, known as the "sunshine process", is required before the parties meet face-to-face at the bargaining table.

The CSU administration's sunshine proposal seeks to make yet-to-be-disclosed changes to the benefits and layoff sections of the contract, among other proposed adjustments.

CSUEU's proposals, on the other hand, include increases in the opportunity for employees to progress through their salary ranges while promoting advancement, retention, and equity in the workforce. The union intends to propose other improvements throughout the contract.

CSUEU will stand strong against any attempt to cut to our benefits or changes that would negatively impact our members.
